

Camp Sight

Writers' Guidelines

PURPOSE: CampSight is a quarterly online publication of Christian Camp and Conference Association (CCCA) that seeks to proclaim the power and benefits of the Christian camp and conference experience.

FOCUS: The webzine prints both inspirational features and how-to pieces related to the positive influence of Christian camp and conference ministries. Features include stories of how God has worked through Christian camps, conference centers, and retreat centers to change the lives of individuals of all ages and walks of life around the world. Of particular interest are articles about unique camp situations and profiles of well-known individuals who have or have had a close camp connection. CampSight's how-to pieces communicate the merits of Christian camping to parents, pastors, and group leaders, explaining how to prepare for and maximize the experience.

APPROACH: Articles in CampSight show (rather than tell) what God is doing in and through Christian camp and conference ministries, and demonstrate how people can be involved and benefit from such a ministry. CampSight publishes first- and third-person articles.

FORMAT: CampSight is published quarterly at www.campsight.org. The average article length is 700 words. Please query first; electronic queries e-mailed to editor@ccca.org are preferred. Response to queries, photos, and manuscripts are sent within one month. CampSight retains first rights for original articles, and publishes reprints. Bylines and photo credits are given. Submit seasonal material queries six months in advance.

PAYMENT: CampSight offers 20 cents per published word. Payment is sent upon publication. Travel expenses are not compensated.

PHOTOS: CampSight will generally arrange for photographs of individuals profiled in the webzine. For other photo contributions, sharp color glossy prints or high quality digital shots are acceptable. Mood/action shots covering the gamut of emotion and activity in camp, conference center, and retreat center ministries will be considered.

TIPS: Stories of changed lives are the best bet for newcomers and freelancers.
